Lectra recognized as one of Deloitte's Best Managed Companies for the second consecutive year

Paris, June 29, 2023

Lectra, whose connected industrial equipment and software facilitate the digital transformation and Industry 4.0 transition of fashion, automotive and furniture companies, has announced that for the second year running, it features among the 14 French companies named as Deloitte France's Best Managed Companies for 2023.

Created 30 years ago by Deloitte Canada and launched in France at the end of 2021, the program rewards the excellence of companies that demonstrate outstanding management and performance following a thorough and independent selection process. Companies are evaluated on their long-term strategy, talent management, and capacity for innovation, as well as their CSR policy, and their governance and financial management. These criteria measure both the differentiating factors of a company and its ability to address current and future challenges.

Lectra is one of 14 French companies to receive the Best Managed Companies award in 2023. "To be awarded the Best Managed Companies designation for a second time is confirmation that Lectra has demonstrated its solidity through a high quality application", says Eric Forest, Deloitte Private Leader Partner, responsible for the Best Managed Companies program. "We are still convinced of the group's great maturity, which makes it an ideal strategic partner to accompany its customers in their technological transformation."

The Best Managed Companies designation is a prestigious award that recognizes excellence in management and performance. The application process involves a thorough evaluation of Lectra's performance in key areas such as strategy, operations, sustainable development and talent management. Through its ability to develop innovations in cutting equipment, software and services, and its grasp of technologies such as the Internet of Things, the cloud, artificial intelligence and big data, Lectra plays a key role in helping businesses in the fashion, automotive and furniture sectors to evolve towards Industry 4.0 on a global scale.

"Being recognized as a Best Managed Company for the second consecutive year is a great honor for Lectra. It is also a mark of recognition of our ability to drive our customers' success by accelerating their transition to Industry 4.0, of the relevance of our strategy, and of our CSR commitment," says Daniel Harari, Lectra's Chairman and CEO. "I would like to thank all the teams at Lectra for this collective success and for their commitment to making Lectra a global technology leader in the fashion, automotive and furniture markets".

About Lectra
